SUMMARY

Losing A Shoe

PROCEDURES:

For all NRHA- approved events:

In the case where an exhibitor's horse loses a shoe two or more sets prior to their draw, they may contact the paddock manager to call the show farrier to have the shoe put back on and their original draw will remain the same.

In the case where a exhibitor's horse loses a shoe, and his or her run is in the current or next set, he or she may contact the paddock manager to call the show farrier to have the shoe put back on and they can choose for their draw to remain as it was originally, or they may opt to move the draw to the bottom of the current or next set.

Should there be a conflict with another horse ridden by the same exhibitor at the bottom of the next set, show management will determine the allowances made. There will be no other conflicts considered.

Should the current set be the last set before a lunch break, the competitor will have a maximum of 20 minutes after the set is complete to begin his or her run. The lunch break will be adjusted according to show management's discretion. There will not be a drag prior to this horse competing, even if there is ample time for a drag.

Should the current set be the last set of the draw for the class (or for the day in the case of multiple day run classes), the competitor has a maximum of 20 minutes after the last horse in that set to begin his or her run. There will not be a drag prior to this horse competing, even if there is ample time for a drag.

Any other case of a lost shoe will be the responsibility of the competitor.

NRHA owned Futurity and Derby competition specifically:

For the go rounds, the show farrier will be on call from the paddock manager and will be at the paddock by golf cart within minutes. The above section will be followed.

For the finals, the show farrier will be located in the paddock area of the finals arena and the draw will not be altered. If the horse is next in the draw to compete and loses a shoe, should it be necessary a pause of 15 minutes will be made to allow time for the shoe to be put back on.
